

90th Anniversary of Chinese People's Liberation Army

On 1st August 1927, the Communist Party of China launched the Nanchang Uprising which shocked the whole world. The glorious day “1st August” has become the grand festive day for the People’s Liberation Army.

Over the last 90 years, the People’s Liberation Army keeps on fighting courageously and fearlessly. For the sake of the revolution, development and reform of China, as well as to uphold the peace and tranquility of the world, they have made tremendous achievement that shines through all ages.

The dream of China is the dream of powerful country and powerful army. In recent years, the People’s Liberation Army has made a big step to the new journey as a powerful army. The establishment of Ground Force, Navy, Air Force, Rocket Force, Strategic Support Force and Armed Police Force has made an overall advancement, with a dramatic increase in the core military capability. The reform of leadership and command system has achieved a breakthrough progress, the formation of the new structure, namely, “The Central Military Commission takes charge of the overall administration of armed force; Battle Zone focuses on combats; specific construction is made according to different kind of military force”, the composition of the scale, structure and strength of the army has better met the requirement for actual combat.

In accordance with the Constitution of the People's Republic of China, the armed force of the People’s Republic of China belongs to the nation. The mission is to reinforce national defense, resist aggressions, safeguard the country and people’s peaceful labor, get involved in country development and serve the public with its best effort. When the Chinese People’s Liberation Army is summoned by the motherland and people, it will faithfully fulfill the holy responsibility and mission regulated and given by the constitution.

Macao Post and Telecommunications Bureau
Translation: NTC Communication & Translation Services